Description

A rare opportunity to secure substantial industrial accommodation in the heart of North West London, with two self-contained areas available either individually or combined to create a larger operational footprint tailored to occupier requirements.

Large-scale industrial space of this caliber is becoming increasingly difficult to secure across London. Offering an exceptional combination of scale, flexibility, accessibility and operational efficiency, this property is ideally suited to businesses seeking a strategically positioned base with room to grow.

The property benefits from multiple roller shutter loading doors, excellent circulation space and strong HGV accessibility, supporting efficient day-to-day operations and seamless delivery movements. The flexibility to occupy one area independently or combine both units presents an attractive solution for occupiers requiring adaptable space in a highly sought-after industrial location.

Location

The building is situated on Salter Street in White City, within the London Borough of Brent. It benefits from excellent access to the A40 (North Circular), just 0.6 miles away, providing convenient links to the motorway network. Willesden Junction Station, located 0.7 miles from the site, is served by both the London Overground and Bakerloo lines. Harlesden Station, 1.1 miles away, offers services on the London Overground's North London Line, Watford DC Line and the Bakerloo Line. Additionally, the area is well-served by numerous bus routes.
